

Family Members

Read the passage below and answer the following questions.

Family members are the people we are connected to through blood or marriage. They play an important role in our lives and provide support, love, and companionship. A typical family consists of parents, siblings, and sometimes grandparents, aunts, uncles, and cousins. Parents are usually the ones who raise and take care of us, while siblings are our brothers and sisters. Grandparents are older family members who often provide wisdom and guidance. Aunts, uncles, and cousins are extended family members who we may not see as often but still share a special bond with. Family members are there for us in both good times and bad, creating a sense of belonging and unity.
